WHAT'S NEW IN THE HOMELESS WORLD EVERYDAY FOR A PRICE EVERYONE CAN PAY FOR

History of the Homeless

Para. #1

Homelessness has developed over past years and became a major issue in the United States of America. So, where did this nationwide problem come from?

THE 1800'S

About 150 years ago, people considered being drunk as the main reason people were homeless because they spent all their money on drinks and were not able to support their families. Most of these people would also lose their houses and jobs due to this drunkenness causing them to not fit in compared to other people. The rest of their family would leave them and enter a life of poverty. Fifty years later, drug abuse came into play with the same consequences ("Homelessness").

THE GREAT DEPRESSION

Before the Great Depression, people noticed and pointed out other signs of homelessness, which were terrible conditions on the job, unhealthy workers working, and not much help by the government for those without pay. Diseases like tuberculosis also harmed people. At the time, the welfare system wasn't working well. Working men had no choice but to live their lives out begging for food and dealing with

After the Great Depression cleared up, the US was in a good position for about 30 years. More benefits like Medicare and cheaper houses were available. The drunk and drug abuse... could get help and cities were b... rebuilt to make better cities ("Homelessness").

HOMELESSNESS NOW

Currently, all over the nation, a rise of homeless people and those who are hungry has occurred in different types of cities small to large. This problem isn't in just one area of the US. "56% of people requesting food assistance in the U.S. during the past year were children" (McKeever).

IGNORED BY THE MEDIA

The issue of homelessness has not been well addressed by the media at any point in time (Washington).

HATE TOWARD THE HOMELESS

As time passes, less and less people pay attention to the homeless because they dislike that they are taking up space (Washington).
